The Intercollegiate Meet.

The annual track meet of the N. Y. S. I. A. U. was held at Hamilton, N. Y., on Decoration Day. Colgate, Rochester and Hamilton entered teams to compete for the championship banner. Colgate won it this year, securing 75 points at the meet. Rochester was second with 31 and Hamilton scored 10 points. The team was handicapped seriously by its very evident lack of coaching. Wood of Rochester broke the union's high jump record, clearing the bar at 5 feet 9 inches. In this event Bagg again broke Hamilton's record, putting it at 5 feet 6¾ inches. The record in the two mile was also smashed, Bezant of Colgate putting it down to 9:57. The day was fine for a meet and the program was run off smoothly. The team showed improvement over its showing in the triangular meet at Utica, and with Mr. Sweetland coaching the men for a week, they will no doubt put up a fine struggle at Auburn, in the meet with Rochester.

Track Coach.

Mr. Sweetland, Cornell '96, will be on the Hill until June 8th to coach the track team. On account of his regard for our college, he has offered his services to the management gratis. Mr. Sweetland coached the football team in 1903 and those of us who were here then, know him for a good coach and a fine man. We heartily welcome him back and we will strive to profit from his instruction.

Cross and Helmet.

The Junior Society of Cross and Helmet announces the following elections from the Class of 1909:

William Dumont Conklin of Arapaho, Okla., Horace Griffith Getman of Kansas City, Mo., Clarence Eldredge Leavenworth of Cleveland, O., Harrison Cook Thomas of Utica, John Milton Butler of Utica, Alexander Faikney Osborn of New York City, Harold Peterson Osborn of New Hartford, John Manley Spencer of Gouverneur, Philip Henry Welch of Brooklyn.

The Auburn Meet.

On June 8th, the track team goes to Auburn to try mettle in a dual meet with the University of Rochester. Tho the weather this past week or so has been very poor for running on the cinder track, still we must remember that Rochester has been getting the same dose from the weather man, and their facilities for indoor practice are not any better if as good as ours. So the team goes with great hopes of winning, for the results of the Colgate meet will not spoil the team, and by vigorous training the team will get into the pink of condition before the meet.

The team places much hope on our distance running and jumping; not that Rochester is especially weak in these, but our team is exceptionally strong. Harry Smith '08 is hoping to capture the two mile record, and stands a good chance of doing it. Leavenworth '10 goes pretty high in the pole vault, and may break his own record. Renwick '10, who is a good long distance runner, is threatened with illness which may keep him out, but it is hoped that he may recover in time.

Captain Bagg '07 will probably get a place in the hundred, and first place in the high-jump.

The management is very much indebted to McCarthy '08, whose home is in Auburn, for his interest and valuable assistance. Thru his activities many difficulties have been overcome, and preparations laid out for the successful operation of the meet.

—Junior Prize Stabbers in debate are Fitch, Henderson, Fraser, Simmons, A. Holley and Greengard. It happens next Wednesday. The men have been working hard and a fine exhibition is expected.

Rochester 6, Hamilton 4.

Last Saturday afternoon the Varsity played Rochester on Steuben Field. The game was close thruout and considering the fact that there were four substitutes in the game for Hamilton, the team played a remarkably good game. Capt. Brown played third base in place of Judson '08, and Clarke was shifted to short stop. Lloyd, Leavenworth, and Lovenguth were played at second base, catch and right field respectively. The new men filled their positions well.

The game started out with a very poor first inning. The varsity by errors let in four runs. Hamilton did not score any runs. In the next inning Rochester was put out in one, two, three order, while Hamilton scored one run.

For the next five innings both teams steadied down and only one run came in, which was made by Rochester. In the eighth both teams scored two runs. The last inning was a blank, making a final score of 6 to 4 in favor of Rochester.

The features of the game were the catch of a foul fly by Leavenworth, and his double play to first.

The score follows:

Tennis.

The tennis team, composed of Day '07, (Capt), Watson and Simmons '08, Conklin and Getman '09, went to Hamilton on Saturday for the annual meet with Colgate, and for the first time in our tennis history were beaten by the maroon. Conklin started off by beating King in a long, hard match. Conklin excelled in steadiness altho his opponent clearly out-shone him in form and brilliancy of attack. Watson fell before his opponent. The Colgate man had made it 3-0 in the second set when Watson braced and took the next seven games. Then he blew up again. He was handicapped by three strings of his racket breaking near the end of the first set. Day made short work of Hatch, who clearly showed his lack of practice. Watson, Simmons and Conklin had to leave at this time to catch the only train back to Utica and did not wait for their matches. Score: Hamilton 2, Colgate 1.

Getman faced Bartholomew to decide the match and lost after some gruelling rallies. This defeat tied the teams 2-2. Day and Getman being the only ones left decided to play doubles and decide the match one way or the other. They lost in two fast sets. Detailed Scores:

Conklin (H) defeated King (C) 8-6, 3-6, 6-3.

Davis (C) defeated Watson (H) 7-5, 3-6, 6-4.

Day (H) defeated Hatch (C) 6-1, 6-3. Bartholomew (C) defeated Getman (H) 9-7, 6-4.

Hatch and King (C) defeated Day and Getman (H) 6-2, 6-4.

The individual standing of the team for the first three intercollegiate contests, Syracuse, Cornell and Colgate, is as follows:

Colgate plays a return match on the campus in the near future. This game was scheduled for last Monday, but was called off on account of the weather. Union will also be played soon.

Simmons '08 defeated Sherwin '10, who had challenged him for his place on the team, 4-6, 6-3, 8-6. Sherwin lost principally thru lack of practice. He looks like a "comer."

Owing to the miserable weather, only two matches in the college tournament have been played: McAneny '10 defeated Riggs '08, 6-4, 6-3, and Pratt '08 defeated Saunders, '09, 6-4, 6-1.

New Lit. Department.

Another new department is to be added to the Lit. next year. It will be called "The College Scrap Book." It will be devoted to oddities and novelties that spring up from day to day here on the Hill; to quaint bits of information about doings and deeds the "old grads." tell us of; to interesting statistics; to anything in short of any kind that is in any way relative to Hamilton College. To make this department a good one the Editors ask for contributions from anyone. If something good comes into your head, save it until you happen to meet one of the Editors and spring it on him, and he'll thank you. If you hear a good story on some grad. or on one of the faculty make a note of it. "The Scrap Heap" will print it if it isn't too raw. Its a good idea, this department. Send in your gags and scraps by word of mouth, mail or telephone.

SPIRIT? DON'T MENTION the word. June 8th Rochester will meet Hamilton at Auburn. Will Hamilton meet Rochester? Yes, if every Hamilton man will throw away his sweetened rag and hide his kilts in the ash barrel. This means you, the man who has ever or never done any track work, the man who has ever or never supported a college team in spirit or in person. Eliminate the fussing and flirt with the hurdles or the hammer for a week and things will look up for the team at Auburn.

Mr. Sweetland will be on the Hill for the remainder of the season. He knows what Hamilton has been. We know what Hamilton is. It is up to the college to get behind the team in more than name. Come out fellows and appreciate what a captain must do who has the reputation of the college to sustain. If Mr. Sweetland can afford to give his time, who is there that can not get out on the track for an hour each day from now on?

THE LIT. BOARD WISHES to call the attention of everyone in 1909 and 1910 to the fact that the competition places on the board starts at once. Everyone has an equal chance. No one has a head start. The way to make the board is to hand in a manuscript. The board will decide how good it is. The reward is worth an effort.

THE TIME AND THE DAY for the Senior week Glee Club Concert is being much discussed. Several days and hours have been suggested. Considering the pros and cons, it would seem that Thursday evening, the night of Senior Ball, at about 8 o'clock, would be by far the most propitious time. In the first place the agitation about omitting the Ball entirely shows that not a few dread the long night on the floor. In the second place, were the concert held in the afternoon, as it would have to be were the concert held any day but Thursday, it must needs be in the chapel, which will be hot and dusty, and but little interest could be aroused. It would be ideal to have it Senior Ball evening, postponing the start of the Ball until 9:30 or 10 o'clock. A small stage could easily be erected on the Campus, a few Chinese lanterns here and there, chairs for the ladies, and a promenade would make the evening a very delightful one.

The "Lit." Critique.

The season ended, Time's curtain falls on the last act, with the stock company, Stryker, Woolcott, Osborn, Baum and Dounce, nicely grouped in center-stage awaiting due applause from us lesser mortals. A demure little editorial bows the conventional farewell before the curtain, and to a dirge of Necrology notes we file away thru the darkness, conscious that the thing was well done, tho we could not always understand it.

The "bill" for the month is a good one, as our literary vaudeville goes. The first act is Lloyd Stryker's K. P. eulogium of Tom Paine, in many respects the finest oration of last year's galaxy. There is comfort in the thought that no vandal Freshman dare ever maltreat its ringing periods, for Stryker's oration is peculiarly his own and must suffer badly if presented by a lesser luminary.

Dounce, our ingenious juggler of phrase and connotation, has selected this time as his material a costumer's catalog, the menu of a Chinese restaurant, and an assortment of musical terms borrowed from the Glee Club leader. He adds his inevitable "bathetic" climax, and displays a wonted knack at conversation in handling the mixture. He has called his narrator "the Bruin," partly in deference to the vogue of the Teddy Bear, and partly, no doubt, as a contrast to the "Kitten" of blessed memory.

Woolcott presents a sketch entitled "Anniversary." He has crowded into one-act proportions the theme and movement of a Vaughn Moody drama. The result is below his usual standard. Plot excellence and one or two analytical paragraphs are all that raise "Anniversary" above hopeless mediocrity. But much can be forgiven to Woolcott. If he adheres to his chagrined intention of a long literary idleness, he will seriously dampen the bright prospects for next year's volume of the magazine.

Osborn's zoological researches have borne fruit in a psychic ant-eater, the heroine of a quaint little Osbornesque story, entitled, in quizzical bombast, "The Fallacy of Conceit." Osborn's skits have a flavor peculiarly their own, like creme de menthe or Commons' butter, and we hope that he will put others of his mental menagerie thru the paces in future issues.

Of the verse, Welch has devoted two dactylic quatrains to a reflection upon character-building, which he calls "The Talisman." By recasting the verses in iambic feet, he could have avoided a disagreeable syncopation, and materially strengthened his effort. Welch's rhymes are pithy and clear of thought. We ought to have more of them. Osborn's "Preposterous" hack-verses scan neatly, but the theme strongly suggests something we have heard before. Baum give us an experiment in French metres, à la Austin Dobson, which is undoubtedly of high poetic merit, since no one appears to understand it.

Criticus in a sorrowful mood says some excellent things about the neglect of the old Observatory. The editorials and hill notes are perfunctory. The exchange column reprints a Swinburnesque poem of unusual merit from the Harvard Monthly. Alumna and Necrology occupy their usual places. Altogether, an interesting issue to complete the work of the retiring staff.

Dr. Davenport Lectures.

At the banquet of the Men's Club of the Plymouth Church of Utica held last Monday evening, Prof. Davenport was one of the principal speakers. His subject was "The Right and Wrong Religion for the Twentieth Century." Altho Prof. Davenport is always heard with great pleasure, his speech of Monday evening proved particularly interesting and instructive to all who heard it. He spoke in part as follows:

The religion of the 20th century will not be a religion of emotion, an experience that gives itself up to frequent expression in wild prayers. That kind is a matter of the temperament and not of the true spirit. This religion will have much to do with the intellect. We will have no holiness with horns. It is going to be broader than any mere temperament, or book or creed. A creed is not life, but the backbone of life, and everyone has one except religious jelly fish. The church also is an instrument of life and it has not had its day. I would not care to be a citizen of America without this spiritual guardian, and yet I call to your attention the vision in Revelation of that time when there shall be no church, when the church shall have served its purpose of showing how to get along without it. The Bible is the expression of the religious experience of a people who were as keen for it as the Greeks were for art and reason, the Romans for organization and law, and the Teutons for democracy. The life of those men is in the book.

But we will be the slaves of no mere book, however excellent it may be. The religion of the 20th century is to be a religion where men will think for themselves. Some people are so afraid to use their own intellects that they become floaters and are carried along by what someone else thinks and believes. That is the explanation for the many isms that have grown and prospered for a time in this country. In religion we need moral earnestness, for that is the furnace, but we need as well mental clearness, for that is the pilot of our life. Let intelligence and the use of that intelligence grow and we shall arrive at a sane and safe religion.

And above all let us not forget Christ's idea of God and Christ's idea of man. On the one hand is the Father whose love and sympathy are abounding, and on the other there are our fellow men. To Him we are to be obedient and reverent children; to them we are to be as brothers and love them for the best that is in them. That will be the true democracy, and no one thing in the history of this world gave such an impetus to the development of the true democracy as the coming and the teachings of Christ upon the earth.

Spring Elections.

A meeting of the Athletic Association was held in chapel last Saturday. An amendment was made to the By-laws, to allow the men of the various teams to wear the "H" on their uniforms. The following men were elected from the nominations made the evening before by the Advisory Board:

Manager of Baseball, Love '09.
Ass't Manager of Baseball, Wheeler '09.
Manager of Basket-ball, Williams '08.
Ass't Manager of Basket-ball, McGarry '09.
Manager of Track, Butler '09.
Ass't Manager of Track, Renwick '10.
Manager of Tennis, Beck '08.
Ass't Manager of Tennis, Getman '09.
Manager of Musical Clubs, Soper '08.
Ass't Manager of Musical Clubs, Krumholtz '09.

It was voted that Union University be granted entrance to the N. Y. S. I. A. U. under the same terms as the present members. After the A. A. meeting a college meeting was called at which the elections to the Lit board of A. F. Osborn '09, and Dounce '10, were ratified.

The Play.

After two months of pretty steady work the college mummies were quite discouraged at the sudden and serious illness of Truax, '09, whose rather brilliant mastery of the longest part in the play made it seem as if an understudy at so short notice was impossible. The certain news of Truax's utter inability to appear came on Wednesday, and that night Dounce started work. The odds he is under are great. The men are working double time and expect to have the part in good shape. LIFE hopes for success.

Musical Club Elections.

At a meeting of the Musical Clubs held Monday evening in Silliman Hall, W. B. Simmons, '08, of Chicago, Ill., was re-elected leader of the Glee Club for next year. Karl F. Adams, '08, of Clinton, N. Y., was elected leader of the Instrumental Club. Soper '08, of Chicago, is the manager for next year, and Krumholtz is his assistant.

It was decided by the Clubs to give a benefit concert for Trippe '07, some time during Commencement week.

College Notes.

—"The Mice Will Play" next Tuesday.

—The Senior examinations began yesterday.

—The Sophomores are busy selecting a cane for next Fall.

—The Tennis Tournament is being played off rather slowly.

—Kuolt, '07, has been elected permanent secretary of the class.

—Elihu Root's new automobile appeared on the Hill this week.

—Welch '09 is in New York attending the marriage of his sister.

—Don't forget the Freshman Frolic after Clark Prize next Wednesday.

—Prof. Davenport gave his Senior Law class a farewell talk last Wednesday.

—Hon. J. S. Sherman, '78, Tremaine '86 and Soper '05 visited the Hill this week.

—Westel White has been engaged to furnish the music for Commencement Week.

—The Freshmen have been requested to make out their elective cards for the whole of next year as the two upper classes are accustomed to do.

—The marriage of Sherman '06 to Miss Elizabeth Cooper of Utica occurs today.

—Grossmeyer '07 has secured an excellent position in the Ilion High School.

—The marriage of Heacock '06, to Miss Alice Baker of Gloversville occurs Tuesday.

—"Square" enjoyed such strength last week that he was enabled to go out driving.

—The latest bulletin of mumps victims includes Libbey, '07, White, '08, and Renwick, '10.

—The Senior class last week voted to have the square presented to Swetman on Class Day.

—The engagement of Oren Root, Jr. '94, to Miss Ida de Acosta of Newport has been announced.

—Next Wednesday the varsity plays Colgate on Steuben Field. This is the last game of the season.

—The Senior class, after much discussion of the matter, has decided to hold Senior Ball as usual.

—McGarry, '09, has recovered from an attack of mumps and has returned to assume his college duties.

—College meeting today in the Chapel at 12:45. This is an important meeting, so all should attend.

—The condition of Hemenway, '07, who is ill with typhoid in the Faxon Hospital, seems to be slightly improving.

—"Nick" Holmes, '08, appeared on the Hill Monday after several weeks' absence due to a sojourn at the Rangeley Lakes.

—Trippe, '07, had to undergo another very painful operation on his leg last Saturday. He is getting along as well as could be expected.

—The Freshman Frolic will be held Wednesday evening after K. P. Many tickets have been sold and a very successful Frolic is expected.

—The committee in charge of the Senior Campus Day is keeping its arrangements secret. A unique and entertaining day is expected.

—The faculty has dropped French as an elective for the Sophomore year of the Latin-Scientific course. The course may be continued, however, Junior year.

—The annual Clark Prize oratorical contest will be held next Wednesday evening. The speakers will be: Allen, E. Clark, Barrows, Day, Gilbert and Grossmeyer '07.

—Truax, '09, is suffering from an attack of catarrh of the stomach, and will not be able to take his part in the play next Tuesday. Dounce, '10, has consented to take Truax's part.

—Tonight, Mr. Russell will lecture to Dr. Davenport's Senior law and Junior economics classes on "The Ethics of Wall Street." Mr. Russell will remain on the Hill over Sunday as the guest of Dr. Davenport.

—The temporary hitch in our dramatics has been remedied with commendable readiness, and by dint of double work it appears that all will be ready for Tuesday night. The advance sale has been rapid, we hear, and here's hoping every seat will be filled. The workers certainly deserve our best support and besides it's certainly worth it. We'll all be there won't we?

—Rudd, '09, respectfully begs information as to why in last Wednesday's 2 o'clock chapel, the audience, in spite of the fact that they greeted the completion of every one's else declamation, regardless of worth, with vociferous applause, nevertheless greeted his declamation, although it was graceful and of sterling merit, with a deathly silence—without so much as the cracking of a smile. Please address information care of Scollard Opera House, Clinton, N. Y.
